

What's Going On

Before The Uncommon Parenting Shift

Read through these questions and add a few words wherever useful. You do not need long answers, and 'I'm not sure' is fine. Leave anything you would rather discuss on the call blank. Keep your answers and bring them with you. You do not need to send them beforehand. We will go through them together, so we get a picture of what's going on.

Your family now

Your name, where you live and your time zone.

Which child are we focusing on? Their name and age.

Who lives with them, and who else regularly cares for them? Include ages of siblings.

Does your child spend time in more than one home? What does that look like?

What keeps happening that you would like to become easier?

What would a change look like in an ordinary day?

What's Going On

Before The Uncommon Parenting Shift

Their early years and what has changed

Rough answers are enough. If you cannot remember or do not know, say so. These questions help us explore their experience; they do not tell us, on their own, what is driving behaviour now.

What were pregnancy, birth and the first months like for your family? Any difficulties or separations you want us to know about?

How was your child fed in the early months, and roughly for how long?

Where did they sleep? How much were they held or carried? Was a dummy used?

How did toilet learning and time away from a parent begin? What do you remember?

Any moves, losses, new arrivals, relationship changes or work pressures that affected family life?

Any health, developmental or support needs, or anything else you want to tell me? You can discuss this on the call instead.
